Cherry Creek Schools

Members of the Cherry Creek School District Community:

Welcome to the 2019-20 school year, and welcome to your own personal pursuit of excellence.

As we kick off the beginning of another academic year, it's an exciting time for students, parents and staff alike across our 108 square miles. Once again, we are at the outset of a path through another important chapter of our lives, one that will offer rewards, challenges and plenty of chances to meet CCSD's longstanding mission of being "Dedicated to Excellence."

Whether you're looking forward to your first day of kindergarten or preparing for the final year of your high school career, this is an exciting time, one filled with promise, expectation and careful planning for the journey to come.

We're on this journey together, and as your Superintendent, I'm excited for the growth, learning and milestones to come in the next school year. I'm looking forward to the formal opening of the Cherry Creek Innovation Campus, a new facility made possible by the generosity of our community that will prepare high school students across the District for the demands of the future. I'm excited to see how students at dozens of our elementary and middle schools take advantage of the new innovation spaces that will come online this fall. I can't wait for the kickoff of another year of amazing student-led activities that run the gamut from championship athletic programs to award-winning theater and musical programs.

Most of all, I'm excited to see how our community comes together for another year of learning rooted in the values that have served CCSD so well for nearly 70 years. I know that a commitment to excellence will steer our course in the coming months, as will goals designed to meet our mission "to inspire every student to think, to learn, to achieve, to care."

Our course includes a focus on innovation and applicable, real-world skills for our students. It includes a commitment to equity and excellence for all, a focus on helping every one of our students to become accomplished leaders. It means offering every child a safe, inclusive and engaging space where they are encouraged to find their passions and pursue their dreams.

I'm excited to take that journey with all of you this year, and I look forward to the progress that we will all make together.
